MOBILE DISASTER RECOVERY CENTER OPEN IN MITCHELL COUNTY

ATLANTA – A Mobile Disaster Recovery Center (Mobile DRC) operated by the State of Georgia and the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) is open in Mitchell County to assist people affected by the storms and flooding in late March and early April.

“Individuals who reside in disaster-declared counties and suffered losses can receive person-to-person assistance at the center from specialists skilled in many disaster-related subjects,” said Georgia Emergency Management Agency Director Charley English.

The Mobile DRC is parked at the Mitchell County Emergency Services Building at 4767 Highway 37 in Camilla. The recovery center will be open noon-7 p.m. today (Wednesday) and will be open 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Thursday and Friday, and 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Disaster officials ask that before visiting a center, people first apply for assistance by registering online at www.DisasterAssistance.gov or by calling 800-621-FEMA (3362) or TTY 800-462-7585. The toll-free numbers are available seven days a week, 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. Help in all languages is available.

When registering, applicants should have the following information readily available:

- Current and pre-disaster address;
- Current telephone numbers;
- Social Security number, if available;
- Insurance coverage, policy number(s) and agent’s name if possible.

Registration takes about 20 minutes and an application number is assigned.

Once an individual has registered, FEMA disaster recovery specialists can check on an individual’s case, answer questions about the application, or review information FEMA needs to process the application. Recovery specialists can supply contacts for other programs that may be able to help.

U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) representatives will be on hand at the MDRC in Camilla to meet with individuals and business owners to answer questions about the SBA’s low-interest disaster loan program. Homeowners, renters, businesses of all sizes and private non-profit organizations may get loans to repair or replace real estate and/or personal property damaged by the late March and early April storms and flooding.

Applicants who receive SBA loan applications must submit them to the SBA to be eligible for FEMA grants that cover personal property, vehicle repair or replacement, and moving and storage expenses.

Representatives will help complete and accept SBA disaster loan applications. Anyone not able to go to a DRC may obtain help by calling the SBA Customer Service Center Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., at 800-659-2955. Information and assistance also are available by visiting the SBA Web site at www.sba.gov/services/disasterassistance or sending an e-mail to disastercustomerservice@sba.gov.

FEMA leads and supports the nation in a risk-based, comprehensive emergency management system of preparedness, protection, response, recovery, and mitigation, to reduce the loss of life and property and protect the nation from all hazards including natural disasters, acts of terrorism, and other man-made disasters.

Disaster recovery assistance is available without regard to race, color, religion, nationality, sex, age, disability, English proficiency or economic status. If you or someone you know has been discriminated against, call FEMA toll-free at 800-621-FEMA (3362). For TTY call 800-462-7585.

FEMA's temporary housing assistance and grants for public transportation expenses, medical and dental expenses, and funeral and burial expenses do not require individuals to apply for an SBA loan. However, applicants who receive SBA loan applications must submit them to SBA loan officers to be eligible for assistance that covers personal property, vehicle repair or replacement, and moving and storage expenses.
